Information

About the scholarships

AIEF-BHP Tertiary Scholarships are awarded to outstanding Indigenous students undertaking engineering, science and other approved degrees, who aspire to work with BHP and to one day become leaders in the business.

Residential students (residing in a tertiary residential college) and non-residential students (residing in private accommodation) can apply for the scholarship, which provides financial assistance and ongoing professional development and career support from AIEF and BHP, including opportunities to apply for the BHP Internship and BHP Graduate Program. See the FAQ on page 4 for more information.

What do the scholarships cover?

- The cost of accommodation up to a maximum of A$22,000 each year. Support is available for students living in residential and non-residential accommodation. Please contact AIEF for more information about support for residential and non-residential accommodation costs.
- A living allowance of A$6,000 each year.
- An annual stipend of A$2,000 each year for text books and other materials, or other education-related expenses.

How do I apply?

You must submit a completed AIEF-BHP Tertiary Scholarship Application Form (2019) before Sunday, 28 October 2018.

Applications will be assessed by a selection panel, with an emphasis on:

- Academic ability, achievement and potential.
- Interest in and commitment to working in the mining industry.
- Interest in and commitment to working with BHP on completion of your degree.

You may be asked to attend an interview as part of the application process. Interviews will be conducted either by telephone or in person at an AIEF office.

Am I eligible?

To be eligible for an AIEF-BHP Tertiary Scholarship you must:

- Be an Australian resident (currently residing in Australia).
- Be of Australian Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander descent and able to provide supporting evidence of this.
- Be enrolled full time to study an eligible degree at an Australian university or applying to enrol full time at an Australian university, having selected an approved degree as a first preference.
- Demonstrate strong academic achievement and potential.
- Not be in receipt of any other scholarship, cadetship, career support or similar, or undertaking any other work experience, internship or employment, unless agreed with AIEF and BHP. Students in receipt of Commonwealth Scholarship Programme (CSP) scholarships are eligible for the AIEF-BHP Tertiary Scholarship.
- Agree not to accept any other cadetship, internship, work experience or similar opportunities unless agreed with AIEF and BHP.
- Be enthusiastic about a career in the mining industry, and more specifically with BHP.
- Be willing to apply for and participate in BHP Internships and the BHP Graduate Program, which take place at BHP offices and assets Australia wide.
- Commit to participate in the AIEF Pathways Program and to not participate in similar programs or activities offered by other organisations.

Students part way through their degree are encouraged to apply.

FAQ

What is the difference between a scholarship and a cadetship?

A scholarship is a financial grant provided by government, industry or an organisation, which may include relevant work experience with the sponsor organisation. If a scholarship is principally provided for education purposes, with no contractual obligations for scholars to become an employee or to provide labour or services in return for scholarship payments, these payments are not taxable.

A cadetship is a full or part time role offered to students or graduates to provide specific training or mentoring. Cadets are required to provide labour as a condition of the cadetship and all cadetship payments are taxable, which can affect ABSTUDY payments (including eligibility for ABSTUDY).

The AIEF-BHP Tertiary Scholarship is not taxable and will not affect ABSTUDY payments or eligibility.

Do I need to be enrolled full time at university to apply?

Students who are applying to enrol full time at an Australian university can also apply for the scholarship, providing they select an approved degree as a first preference. You must be enrolled to study an eligible degree full time to receive the scholarship.

I'm already part way through my degree. Can I apply?

Yes. Current students who have partially completed an approved degree and who are enrolled full time are encouraged to apply for the scholarship.

Do I need to be living in a tertiary residential college to apply?

No. The AIEF-BHP Tertiary Scholarship offers flexible residential and non-residential options.

I'm taking part in the Follow the Dream/Partnerships for Success Program. Can I apply?

Yes. Students in the Graham (Polly) Farmer Foundation's Follow the Dream/Partnerships for Success Program are encouraged to apply for the scholarship, and preference is given to applicants from the program.

What does the scholarship include?

Students receive up to A$22,000 to cover the cost of residential or non-residential accommodation, a living allowance of A$6,000 and a stipend of A$2,000 for text books and other education related expenses each year.

The accommodation allowance also covers the cost of compulsory fees, meals and other expenses at tertiary residential colleges, within the maximum A$22,000 each year, paid directly to the college. Please contact AIEF for more information about support for residential and non-residential accommodation costs.

What is the BHP Internship?

With 12 weeks of paid work experience, the BHP Internship will see you start to apply what you have learnt through your studies in a practical way.

You will be encouraged to:

- Learn, ask questions, put your ideas forward and participate in solving business problems.
- Uncover your capability through stretch targets and feedback from your supervisor.

The majority of BHP engineering and science roles are based at BHP mine sites and operations where you will be provided accommodation and transport (if required). Business roles such as Information Technology, Finance, HR and Supply will mostly be based in one of BHP's corporate offices in a capital city.

What is the BHP Graduate Program?

The BHP Graduate Program offers graduates hands on experience and networking opportunities across many facets of the business.

Joining the global BHP Graduate Program you can expect to:

- Develop technical skills and build core capabilities through online, face-to-face and on the job learning.
- Get exposure to a diverse range of leaders through leader-led training and coaching.
- Work with industry experts on solving technical and day-to-day problems.
- Solve real business challenges and projects with other graduates from different areas and disciplines.
- Receive stretch targets and feedback to assist your ongoing development.

What is AIEF?

The Australian Indigenous Education Foundation (AIEF) provides scholarships that enable Indigenous students in financial need to attend leading Australian schools and universities.

AIEF also provides mentoring and career support through the AIEF Pathways Program to ensure all AIEF Scholarship Students make a successful transition from school and/or university into a productive and fulfilling career. Tertiary students in the program access networking opportunities and receive one-on-one support tailored to their individual needs.

AIEF offers the AIEF-BHP Tertiary Scholarship in partnership with BHP, and AIEF-BHP Tertiary Scholars are encouraged to apply for an Internship and the BHP Graduate Program.
