

BUSINESS PULSE OF THE NATION

TERESA OOI

teresa.ooi@news.com.au

RISE HIGH

SYDNEY MAY 20

High-powered corporate chiefs, the Prime Minister, educators and students came together to mark the launch of a report into best practice in teaching young indigenous students. The Australian Indigenous Education Foundation executive director Andrew Penfold looked pretty chuffed as he chatted with Prime Minister Tony Abbott and HSBC CEO Tony Cripps about the report. Mr Abbott remarked that many young indigenous students have become “masters of their own destiny”. Among the VIPs were ANZ chairman David Gonski, CBA CEO Ian Narev, chairman of the Prime Minister’s Indigenous Advisory Council Warren Mundine, Nomura Australia chairman Peter Meurer, Morgan Stanley boss Steven Harker, Destination NSW chairman John Hartigan, Credit Suisse chairman John O’Sullivan, Schroder Investment Management CEO Greg Cooper, Allens CEO Michael Rose and John Schaffer, Catalyst’s principal.